ASSAULT BREACHER'S TORCH KIT

BROCO | RANKIN

The Broco | Rankin Assault Breacher's Torch Kit is the basis for the U.S. Marine Corps' Assault Breachers' Torch Kit and also is in use with Army Special Forces, the FBI, and other federal and local special response teams. It was created to meet the specialized requirements of the military's tactical cutting operations. This lightweight rescue and recovery torch system is engineered to provide the greatest cutting capability in a man-carried torch system. The Assault Breacher's Torch Kit provides the capability of cutting a linear feet of 1" thick steel in less than 10 minutes.

The Assault Breacher's Torch Kit contains a depth-compensating oxygen regulator to facilitate limited underwater cutting operations to 90 fsw. In addition to breaching/forced entry the Assault Breacher's Torch Kit can be used for amphibious special ops and maritime damage control operations. RapidFire® cutting rod igniters are required for underwater ignition of cutting rods.

The Assault Breacher's Torch Kit forced entry kit setup is fast and easy. The use of hand-tight fittings and quick connects means no tools are required for assembly or disassembly. The Assault Breacher's Torch Kit uses Broco® cutting rods and RapidFire® cutting rod igniters (optional). RapidFire's fuel element reacts with oxygen to produce a preheat source facilitating near-instantaneous non-electric ignition of the cutting rods. For economical operations, the included battery ignition components allow easy lighting of the cutting rods. The Assault Breacher's Torch Kit comes complete with torch, high pressure oxygen cylinder, regulator, hoses, Breachers A.R.C. Molle backpack assembly, battery ignition accessories, rod extender, rod quivers, leather shield, gloves, safety goggles and custom foamed storage case.

Scan Here!

Broco ENFORCER™ series one-man door rams are engineered for rapid forced entry by tactical teams and first responders.
